

"We will cling to the Pillars of the Temple of our Liberties, and if it must fall, we will Perish amidst the Ruins."

VOL. XXI.--NO. 20.

MOLLY. LET THE BOYS ALONE

Political.

OUR RELATIONS WITH NICARAGUA.

The narrow isthmus which connects the

Impelled by these considerations, the Uni-

The effect of this treaty was to afford to the United States facilities for

In the mean time, intervening between the

...the ...

What is memorable in this respect in the conduct and policy of the United States is, that while it would be as easy for us to an-

When, therefore, some time since, a new minister from the republic of Nicaragua presented himself hearing the commission of President Rivas, he must and would have been received as such, unless he was found on inquiry subject to personal exception, but for the absence of satisfactory information upon the question whether President Rivas

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20

PRO-SLAVERY MEETING. n

Fellow-Citizens of Leavenworth City:
It is with feelings of the most profound for which his party contended—equality in the Union, with equal rights and equal privileges. He contended that slavery was a common and economical blessing. This country, said he, was bought by the common blood and treasure of the whole country, and as such every man had a right to bring slaves here, as well as any other pro-

Several other gentlemen spoke, and a number of sentiments offered, that were cordially cheered.

the dwelling house; and fuel not exceeding the value of $10, procured and designed for the use of the family; furniture to the value of $100; books, $50; live stock, $50; tools and stock to the value of $100; one pew, which remains liable for tax; uniform and accoutrements of an officer, required by law to be kept by him, and right of burial in the cemetery and the use of the vaults, graves and tombs while in use as repositories of the dead.

"PUPPY LOVE."

Happy! weeping! puppy-love! with its hopes and despondings; its joys and trials; its raptures and gloom; its fervors and heart-burning; its laughable ludicrousness, and its intensely prosaic termination!

THINK OF THIS SERIOUSLY.—No life can be well ended that has not been well spent; and what life has been well spent that has had no purpose, that has accomplished no object—~~that~~ has realized no hope.

The friends of Charles H. Sheddwick are exceedingly anxious to learn where he has present, or to give such information as will place them in the way to find him. He resided at Chicago a number of years ago, and was connected with one of the first daily papers there, after which he went further west, and all trace of him has been lost. Publishers of papers who will copy this paragraph, will confer a favor, and information may be addressed to Mr. H. H. Brown, 124 North Main street, St. Paul, Minn.